

Curriculum Vitae – Muhamed Ali

Muhamed Ali, a native from North Macedonia, is an Adjunct Associate Professor Doctor in the field of Middle Eastern Studies and Ethnology in Europe at the Mother Teresa University in North Macedonia.

Previously he served as an Assistant Professor Doctor at the International University of Sarajevo in Bosnia and Herzegovina where he taught undergraduate and graduate courses in the area of law and political sciences. Besides his teaching and research activities at the International University of Sarajevo, for many years he has been engaged as a Vice Rector and Special Advisor to the Rector.

Also he served as an Assistant Professor Doctor at the Faculty of Islamic Sciences – Skopje in North Macedonia where he taught courses in the field of Islamic Law and Philosophy of Islamic Law. He participates actively in different international conferences and is author of several books, chapters in books and articles published locally and internationally.

He has co-edited with Assistant Professor Doctor Anja Zalta a special issue of Slovenian international peer-reviewed academic journal Poligrafi, titled “Moderate Islam and Democracy” and he has also co-authored with Prof. Dr. Mesut Idriz a coffee-table book with photographs and illustrations namely “Photo Collection from the Post Ottoman Era Muslim Religious Leaders of Macedonia”.

